Among the vanished things of earth, My precious child, thou 'rt now ; Far from the land that gave thee birth They've made thy grave so low! Like the dow-drop on the flower,

Or the blossom on the wave, Thou hast passed in youth's first power, To thine early, early grave. Far, far from home's dear haven, By Red River's turbid stream,

Thy soul to God was given In thy womanhood's first dream. GENIE, darling, oh how sadly, None may ever, ever know, Our poor hearts yearn to press thee, As the scalding tear-drops flow; Wrung from these hearts, as soft, and low,

Thro' mem'ry's silent cell, Comes echoing down thy voice e'en now, As when the sweet notes fell! Ere thou had'st left the parent nest,

On new, and untried wing, My bird, how soon that wing would rest In youth's first blushing spring, We recked not then, but God's decrees Can human means avert,

To taste the cup, but leave the lees, Turn from the hand of Fate? Ab, no! tho' bitter it will be To bow beneath His rod, We know thau 'rt blessed now for aye,-The "pure of heart" see God !

For Little Loudon. INSCRIBED TO HIS HEART-STRICKEN PARENTS, By Daisy. "Lovely and pleasant in life, in death they were not divided." Gathered to the arms of the "Good Shepherd," who hath said "of such" is the heavenly fold, on the 26th June, LOUDON A., only child of Capt.

and Mrs. A. P. BUTLER.

How fast from "love's circle the gems drop away," The brighest, the purest, how brief is their stay; We count our sweet treasures, and call them out

Ere the words leave our lips, God has summoned them home.

We look on the lustre that gathers its ray From the gem that's enclosed in its frail form of clay;

We clasp the dear treasure of beautiful dust, Forgetting 'twill crumble and fall, for it must. Not fate's stern decree, but the soft chords of love, That draw earth-bound hearts to "Our Father"

Where shining 'mid rays of His life-giving light Their gem is re-set where there cometh no night. Grieve not then, thou heart-stricken ones, tho thine all,-Thy one little lamb,-heard it; Shepherd soft call, And is clasped to His breast who hath loved it the most.

Nevermore in the world's tortuous paths to be lost. Raise up your fond eyes the' the blinding tears dim.

For awhile the bright light that has gathered 'round him, Its radiance will shine all along your life-stream,

Till that life too has vanished away as a dream. MURDER OF B. S. RHETT, SR .- We are pained to learn that this gentleman was foully assassinated on yesterday afternoon, just after entering his farm near the Race Course. So far as we can learn it appears that Mr. Rhett was riding along a causeway, on the si le of which the murderer had concealed himself, under cover of an undergrowth of brush-and that after passing a distance of He rode but a short distance before falling from his horse, and died where he had fallen, in about three quarters of an hour. He gave no clue to the murderer. Drs. Mitchell and Geddings, who were in the immediate vicinity, could discover no trace of him.

An inquest will be held by Coroner Whiting to-day.-Charleston Courier, 4th.

PROCLAMATION

By his Excellency JAMES L. ORR, Governor and amander-in-Chief in and over the State of South Carolina.

WHEREAS Major-General Sickles, com WHEREAS Major-General Sickles, com-manding Department of the Carolinas, on the 26th inst., by Special orders No. 19, has di-rected that white persons in military custody, charged with felonies or misdemeanors on the persons and property of colored persons, should be turned over to the civil authorities for trial, and that like cases arising hereafter will be disand that like cases arising hereafter will be dis-posed of in the same manner:

And whereas this order—so gratifying to the feelings and sentiments of the people of this State—is based upon the legal opinion of Chief-Justice Dunkin, given upon the urgnnt request of this Department, and communicated to Gen. Sickles: 1st. That persons of color, under the 29th and 30th sections of the "Act to Organize District Courts. District Courts, are competent witnesses in the Court of Sessions in all cases of felony committed by whites on the person or property of a person of color. 2d. That they are competent to make affidavits and sue out warrants against whites in felonies and misdemeanors, and also to testify before Grand Juries in such cases, as well as on the trial hefore the Petit Jury. And 3d. That until the District Judges are commissioned, the Court of General Sessions retains jurisdiction of cases of misdemeanor committed by whites on the person or property of colored persons. Chief Justice Dunkin says: "The Court of General Sessions had always cegnizance of offences committed by white persons against the person or property of a person of color. In the case of 'State vs. Hill,' 24 Speer, 150, which was an in-State vs. Hill, 2d Speer, 150, which was an in-dictment against a white person for assault and battery on a free person of color, it was not only so ruled, but recognized as well-settled law for more than half a century. The District Courts of December, 1865, not having been put in opera-tion, I suppose the general jurisdiction of the Court of Sessions remain; and I understand that such has been the ruling of the Circuit Judges in reference to cases of bastardy and vagrancy which have come before them. The 30th section, which have come before them. The 30th section, Act 1865, provides, 'That in overy ease, civil and criminal, in which a person of color is a party, or which affects the person or property of a person of color, persons of color shall be competent witnesses.' It is a remedial statute and must be construed in reference to its object. My opinion is, that persons of color are competent to testify before Grand Juries and Magistrates in criminal

And whereas the security of the liberty of the citizen arising from his right to be be tried by a jury of his peers, can only be retained, in the present anomalous condition of the country, by the civil officers of the State executing the prin-ciples contained in the opinion of the justly dis tinguished Chief Justice, in good faith and with an earnest desire to give security and protection to the persons and property of the colored popu-

cases touching the person or property of persons

And to the end that this high privilege may be retained by the good people of this State, I, JAMES L. QRR, Governor of the said State, do proclaim and declare, that it is the duty of every proclaim and declare, that it is the dary of every civil Magistrate to give careful consideration to every complaint made to him by a person of color against a white man for any felony or misdemeanor alleged to have been committed against the person or property of a person of color; and if he, upon such consideration, concludes that there are reasonable grounds for such complaint, said Magistrate shall take the affidayit of such person of color, and issue his warrant against the offender, requiring his arrest and recognizance to appear at the next term of the Court of General Sessions, just as he would do if the party making the complaint were a white man; and he will also recognize all witnesses by whom the complainant may desire to prove the charge, as is now provided by law, for securing the attendance of State witnesses. All Sheriffs and Constables will promptly, faithfully and fearlessly execute all such warrants as may be placed in their hands. And I call upon all good citizens to aid in the fair and faithful execution of the laws of this State, as expounded by the Chief Justice; and ten feet, he was shot from the rear with a double-barrelled gun loaded with duck shot. Mr. Rhett was struck in the left arm and side, the shot apparently penetrating the lung. hat no offence against the to the person or property, of even the humblest inhabitant, may be committed with impunity in the State of South Caroline," will be happily
